

Feeling Flat?

By Cindy Marx
Practice Manager at Raj Plastic Surgery

How a woman feels about her body has a lot to do with her self-confidence. Breast augmentation can benefit women of all ages. Women's reasons for wanting a larger bust size vary. Some are unhappy with their natural size and feel that a "flat" chest makes them look masculine. Others struggle to find contemporary clothing, bathing suits and sundresses that fit.

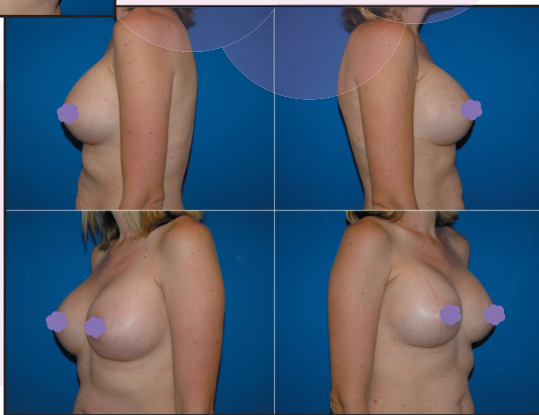

Breast augmentation doesn't change a woman's whole self. However, it does alter her appearance, and this modification is responsible for positive outcomes in terms of attitude and appearance. With breast augmentations, a woman often finds her intimate relationships are more playful due to the confidence she has with her body. A woman's desired size is very personal and must be discussed candidly with a Board Certified Plastic Surgeon. While discussing expectations with the plastic surgeon questions and concerns about the procedure are addressed. It is important for one who is seeking the benefits of breast augmentation to have a good understanding of their expectations and be able to express those expectations to the surgeon.

Surgery for breast augmentation takes a couple of hours and is performed on an outpatient basis. Women go home the same day of surgery with a more voluminous appearance. Initial discomfort lasts a few days and is managed well with medication.

SHOULDN'T YOU INVEST IN YOURSELF?

Nothing beats the confidence of leaving the house with your best foot forward. But what if you never feel your best? Diet and exercise can trim and tone, but not enhance what you were born with. A new outfit, haircut or shoes only provide a temporary boost. Perhaps it's time for a more lasting improvement.

Dr. Joyesh Raj offers an educational approach to body contouring procedures, helping you find what best fits the appearance you're trying to achieve. Being comfortable in your own skin and the confidence that comes with it is a gift you can give to yourself. It's time to feel beautiful again.
